SKIP THE PACKING, HAVE THE EXPERIENCE!

Reminiscing on days gone by where you could freely travel? There is no time like the present to maintain hope for the future of travel or start thinking about trips on your bucket list that you have always wanted to take eventually.

TAKE A VIRTUAL TRIP!

Some great things to do while travelling include visiting national parks, magical kingdoms and of course museums to learn about the area you are visiting or see a one of a kind exhibit or artifacts. This spring, skip the packing for your next trip and check out these resources as a starting place to create virtual experiences and help you plan a fun staycation from the comfort of your apartment. Experience the one and only Ratatouille ride in Disneyland Paris, take a visual hike through the Yellowstone National Park, and finish your day learning at the National Museum of Anthropology in Mexico City!

PROJECT GUTENBERG

Running out of new books to read? Can't go to the library right now, but finding purchasing new books to be too costly? Check out Project Gutenberg!

Project Gutenberg is a website that has over 60,000 eBooks and online books available for download, and it's 100% FREE! It was founded by Michael Hart in 1971, whose goal was to make as many eBooks as possible available for free to the public. Project Gutenberg has books in five different languages, and you can search books by language, author, title, category, or recently posted. The majority of the books are older, and there is a focus on the classics and some of the greatest works of literature in history!

Check out Project Gutenberg for an endless supply of books. Get reading at: <http://www.gutenberg.org>

NO PACKING REQUIRED

The possibilities on this staycation are endless, being able to freely move from virtual site without worry of travel delays, or an interruption in your connection (unless your internet is down).
